

Contents

Introduction 1

Part 1 Dyslexia and assessment 3

1 Dyslexia and assessment: why, who and what? 5

- A working definition of dyslexia 5
- Why should we carry out an assessment for dyslexia? 5
- Who should be assessed? 7
- What should an assessment involve? 9
- Summary 14

2 Assessment in early years and primary school 15

- Early identification 15
- Factors that can prompt concern 16
- Preparing an outline with profile indicators 17
- The 'overcoming barriers to learning' approach 18
- Other signs of being at risk of dyslexia in early years and primary school 19
- Overlapping difficulties 20
- Observation framework 22
- Linking home and school 22
- The importance of early identification of decoding and comprehension difficulties 24
- SEND Code of Practice 24
- Summary 25

3 Assessment in secondary school and in further and higher education 27

- Principles of assessment 27
- Assessment in secondary school 29
- Assessment in FE college 30
- Assessment at university 30
- Informal and formal tests for dyslexia in secondary school, FE college and university 31
- Summary 35

4 Formal and informal assessment 37

- The assessment process 37
- Data gathering 38
- A framework for assessing and identifying dyslexia in all settings 39
- A closer look at phonological tests 42
- Parents of children or students with dyslexia 43
- The role of specialists 44
- Barriers to learning 46
- Summary 47

5 Assessment: understanding results and implications for practice 49

- Informal observation 49
- Formal assessment – linking assessment and intervention 50

- Case study example 51
- Feedback 57
- Implications for practice 58
- Implications for intervention 58
- Summary 60

Part 2 Curriculum assessment 63

6 Assessment through differentiation 65

- What do we mean by differentiation for learners with dyslexia? 65
- Identifying barriers to learning through differentiation 65
- Differentiation by task (content and presentation) 67
- Differentiation by outcome (results) 69
- Differentiation by resources (materials) 70
- Differentiation by support (intervention) 70
- The role of differentiation in informing the development of a learning plan 71
- Subject differentiation examples: mathematics, music and physical education 72
- Overall framework that can be used with differentiation 74
- Summary 75

7 Assessment across the curriculum 77

- Curriculum-based assessment 77
- Metacognitive assessment 77
- The role of metacognition in learning 80
- Linking assessment with teaching of literacy 81
- Linking assessment and support 85
- A framework for assessment across the curriculum 85
- Clarifying concern 86
- Assessment across the curriculum – advantages 87
- Assessment across the curriculum – key issues 89
- Summary 89

Part 3 Issues 91

8 Social, motivational and emotional factors 93

- Social factors 93
- Motivational factors 96
- Emotional factors 98
- Summary 99

9 Overlapping conditions 101

- ADD and ADHD 102
- APD (CAPD) 103
- Visual stress 104
- Maths learning difficulties and dyscalculia 105
- Dysgraphia 106
- Dyspraxia (DCD) 108
- Summary 109

10 EAL: assessing dyslexia in different languages 111

- Dyslexia and bilingualism 111
- Vocabulary 112
- Pronunciation 112
- Culture and language experience 113
- Assessing non-verbal intelligence 114
- Building a learning profile for bilingual students 115
- Summary 115

11 Conclusion 117

- A working definition of dyslexia 117
- Implications of the different definitions of dyslexia 119
- Assessment process – summary 120
- Planning 121
- Suggestions for intervention 122
- Further tips for supporting learning 124
- Some key points made in this book 126

Part 4 Appendices 129

Appendix 1: Pre-assessment questionnaires 131

- Pre-assessment questionnaire: parent/carer 131
- Pre-assessment questionnaire: pupil/student 132
- Pre-assessment questionnaire: teacher 133

Appendix 2: Assessment consent form 135

Appendix 3: The role of professionals 137

Appendix 4: Teacher's Observation of Learning Styles (TOLS) 139

Appendix 5: Pupil/student Assessment of Learning Styles (PALS) 141

Appendix 6: Observation linking assessment and teaching 143

Appendix 7: Record of concern 145

Appendix 8: Checklist on reading and writing 147

- Glossary 149
- Resources 153
- Bibliography 157
- Index 163